BOLIA unveils two new, timeless products

BOLIA enhances its collection with two creations that fully reflect the brand's DNA: pieces with a timeless design, made to last, combining comfort, functionality, and refined craftsmanship. The Cosima bed, designed by the German studio kaschkasch, and the Daia bedside table, by the Spanish duo Ramos Bassols, embody BOLIA's quest: to transform interiors into elegant, comfortable, and welcoming living spaces.

Cosima Bed: an enveloping cocoon by kaschkasch

As a natural extension of the popular series, the Cosima bed embodies the same softness and timeless appeal that define the collection. Fully upholstered, it evokes the lightness of a cloud and becomes an irresistible invitation to relaxation. Its removable cover prolongs its durability while allowing it to be adapted and updated over time.

With the Cosima bed, kaschkasch studio expresses its philosophy: a poetic, intuitive, and meaningful simplicity, for a design that seems to have always existed.

Daia Bedside Table: where form meets function by Ramos Bassols

The Daia bedside table combines refinement and utility within a controlled geometry. Inspired by American horizontal architecture of the 1950s, it alternates between open spaces and drawers, emphasized by two vertical legs with a structuring design.

Made of FSC®-certified solid oak and oak veneer, the Daia bedside table charms with the sobriety of its lines and careful detailing. In the Daia, the Ramos Bassols studio expresses its pursuit of balance and timelessness, with each element reinforcing the quality of the design as a whole.
